Briefs...

James T. Birch, Monterey County Tax Collector, informs taxpayers that December 11 is the deadline for first instalment tax remittances. If sent by mail, remittances must bear a post office cancellation mark which is prior to 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon on that date, he adds. Otherwise there will be a penalty.

State law, Mr. Birch continues, provides that when December 10 falls on a Saturday, Sunday or holiday, the time of delinquency for tax remittances is 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon of the next business day. That is why December 11 is the new deadline for first instalment payments of county taxes.

Carmel chapter, American Red Cross, will have a blood drawing on December 7 from 10:30-1:30 o'clock. The chapter reports recent drawings have been woefully short of Carmel's required quota also blood used by Carmel residents has increased, in part because of the open-heart technique of surgery.

The Red Cross bloodmobile will be parked at the corner of Dolores and Eighth all morning. A nutritious luncheon will be served, free, to donors by the Red Cross canteen crew.

Harry W. Landis, Del Rey Oaks police chief, announced Saturday that he will enter his name as a candidate for the position of Sheriff of Monterey County in the June 5, 1962, primary election.

Memorial Art Gallery Under Construction At Carmel City Hall

Carpenters, this week, are installing plywood paneling on the walls of the council chambers in city hall. The panels will be painted next. The work should be completed by the time the city council meets Wednesday evening.

Purpose of the paneling is to provide a background for the hanging of pictures in the city's memorial museum art gallery.

The project was originally proposed to the arts commission by Richard Lofton, artist and member of the commission. Works of art by deceased artists who have contributed to the cultural growth and reputation of the city will be accepted for display.

The city already owns several paintings which are exhibited on the walls at city hall. These will be rehung after the remodeling is completed to form the nucleus of what, the arts commission hopes, will be a representative collection of Carmel artists' work through the years.

Car Accident Led To Gift Of Park And Mrs. Grigsby Taking Over Forest Hill

By Raylyn Penney

"Everything seems to have a beginning and an ending, yet there is a unity which makes things melt together, as in a circle where the end and the beginning are one."

Too abstract a concept for a child between the ages of two and six? Certainly not in the opinion of Mrs. Fenton Grigsby, who has spent a major portion of her adult life discovering for herself how surprisingly much a child of so-called pre-school age can learn and probably should be learning.

He can master a foreign language, absorb a moral teaching, learn to distinguish between an Ingres and a Gainsborough, between Brahms and Prokofiev.

"Every now and then one of my former students drops in and tells me how he is sharing with his own children some small but helpful approach to life he learned with us —in pre-school years, in the years when such things should be learned," according to Mrs. Grigsby . . .

When Perry Newberry Park was dedicated in Carmel several weeks ago, climaxing some years of effort and concern on the part of certain Carmelites that the land occupied by the park be put to its originally intended use, the event brought to mind another, related story, one reaching even further back into Carmel history, the story of Forest Hill School and its unobstrusive but steady contribution to the cultural life of the young of this area over the years.

Mrs. Grigsby, a community leader in Carmel for the past 27 years, former director of Forest Hill School, and author of the Grigsby Pre-School System which is now in use in a number of private schools over the United States, says that the continuing

Republican Men Plan To Reactivate Club On Monday Evening

A meeting to reactivate the Peninsula Republican Men's Club will take place on Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock in Carmel High School cafeteria, Gunnar Norberg, temporary chairman of the group, announces. Carl Wester is temporary secretary.

Captain John H. Morse (USN Ret.) will be the speaker. His topic will be Americanism for the Military and Americans Everywhere. Mr. Norberg will give preliminary remarks on Making Politics a Crusade for America.

Purpose of reactivating the club, Mr. Norberg reports, is to provide a sounding board for Republican views, also discuss the possibility of having representa-

Ground Broken Today For New Jr. High School

Ground was broken today at the site of Carmel's new junior high school.

Granite Construction Company, which yesterday moved several pieces of heavy equipment to the spot three-fourths of a mile east of the junction of Highway One and Carmel Valley Road, had designated yesterday as starting day, but rain hampered the activity. Engineers staked out measurements for the excavating and building on Tuesday.

Roughly 30,000 yards of dirt will be moved before the new campus of the school will be ready for building, according to a Granite Construction Company spokesman.

Actual building, which is in the hands of Daniels and House Construction Company of Monterey, low bidder at $897,000 for the job in a field of ten at the November 22 bid opening by the Carmel Unified School District Board, is expected to begin "within two or three weeks, weather permitting," according to the construction firm.

The Daniels and House bid, which fell some 22 per cent below architects' estimates, to the joy of school trustees, included an offer to attempt completion of the school by next August 31 at an additional cost of $4,600. This would allow plenty of time for occupancy of the school by the beginning of the 1962-63 academic year.

Other base bids on the as-yet-unnamed school which had been expected to cost the district's taxpayers up to $1,150,000, came from:

B and R Construction, of San Francisco, $1,060,000; George Davis, of Watsonville, $969,900; Dickman Construction, of Moun-

Property Owners Near All Saints' Appeal Parochial School Permit, Citing Inadequate Consideration

Next Wednesday evening the city council may consider setting the date for a public hearing on an appeal against a board of adjustments' issuance of a use permit for the Bishop Kip School to open in Sunday school classrooms at All Saints' Episcopal Church situated in the residence zone along Ninth Avenue between Dolores and Lincoln Streets.

The appeal was filed at city hall on Monday morning by L. E. Harting, chairman of the Carmel Property Owners Committee. Other members of the group are Mrs. Ralph Skene, John Schlueter, Lloyd Praeger, Walter Gardner, Ernest Somerville and Mrs. H. M. Tolfree. They have retained the Salinas law firm of Noland, Hamerly, Etienne and Fulton to represent them.

The petition protesting issuance of the use permit, signed by 30 persons, included the names of six of seven Carmel planning commissioners, Florence Josselyn, John B. Martin Jr., Hugh Smith, Dorothy von Meier, George Willox and Chairman Herbert B. Blanks. Planning commissioner Fred Keeble refused to sign the petition, according to Mr. Harting, because Mr. Keeble thought the planning commission should not resort to

Two Women Scared Tuesday Evening Near Post Office

This morning, Edward John Czerkanski appeared in Monterey Municipal Court on a Carmel Police Department charge of disturbing the peace. He was apprehended yesterday following police investigation of complaints from two Carmel women that they had been frightened by a man, presumably Czerkanski, on Tuesday night after visiting the post office.

Czerkanski pleaded guilty this morning and was sentenced to 90 days in jail with 70 days suspended on strict condition of good behavior and remaining out of all public drinking establishments, the condition to extend over a three-year period.

The first complaint came at 5:58 o'clock Tuesday evening when police received a call to an apartment hotel in the post office vicinity. They responded and found Miss Grace O'Neill who lives at Carmelo and Eleventh. She had taken refuge in the apartment motel after being frightened by a man while walking on Fifth Street between Lincoln and Monte Verde.

Miss O'Neill told police the man parked a car on the north side of Fifth, walked toward her and asked her to accompany him.

Police received the second complaint at 6:15 o'clock from Mrs. Louise Gorton Grigsby who said she had parked her car on the municipal parking lot while she visited the post office. When she reentered the car she thought she smelled gasoline and drove to the

Stop Hitchhiking At Carmel High Committee Warns

The safety committee of Carmel Unified School District's Parent-Teacher Associations is concerned over dangerous traffic conditions at the intersection of Highway One and Ocean Avenue across from the entrance to Carmel High School.

Students ask passing motorists to stop and give them rides into Carmel or north and south on Highway One at this intersection.

When a car stops for this purpose, following cars are also halted and vision along the roadway is impeded. Several near pile-ups have been narrowly averted, according to the safety committee.

Members of the committee request all motorists, either adults or teenagers, to stop picking up hitchhikers at the intersection. They emphasize the practice is

SEVEN PADRES PICKED FOR ALL-LEAGUE GRID SQUADS

Led by Pete Morse, 195-pound tackle, who made both the offensive and defensive squads, seven players on Coach Hadley Hicks' Carmel High varsity were honored with positions on the coaches and sportswriters' mythical All-CCAL team. In addition to the rugged Morse, ends Rich Shively and David Harris were tapped by the selectors; quarterback Dan Holman edged San Lorenzo's Steve Rodriguez for the signal-calling spot; halfback George Pollock repeated at one of the backfield spots; and Lee Oleson and Teddy Leidig were selected as top defensive backs.

Although they finished second to the King City Mustangs in the league standings, the Padres placed more players on the All-League squad than the 1961 B-division Champions. However, the Mustangs had the only unanimous choices in the league when Jim Mankins received unanimous acclaim as the top football player in the CCAL and Paul Dickie, King City pivotman, was liked by everybody as the top center in the B-division. In addition to receiving the CCAL's top honors, Mankins is also in line for Northern California Player of the Year and a spot on the North Shrine Team.

Rounding out the 22-man B-division squad which, in the opinion of the small school mentors, could beat the best picks of the CCAL A-league were ends Dennis Frudden (King City) and David Taylor (King City); tackles Steve Bennett (Hollister) and Phil Kasper (Live Oak); guards Mike Mowat (King City) and Harry Kelleher (Pacific Grove); running back Bill Nichols (Hollister); and defensive backs Roger Busico and Butch Johnson (Pacific Grove), Bob Manafield (King City), Wayne Drager (San Lorenzo), and Lester Botill (Gilroy).

Monterey High's 1961 Champions dominated the A-division selections with seven of the thirteen possible positions. The entire Toreador backfield was named to the mythical team with Tom Trovato, Jim Colletto, and Haywood White making the starting eleven and Charlie Harraway selected as an alternate back. Sam Perkins, Ron Farmer and Richard Ross were the Monterey players chosen for line spots. In addition to accumulating most of the player awards, Monterey's Coach Dan Albert was voted Coach of the Year with a recommendation he be appointed one of the North Shrine coaches.

Players selected for the All-CCAL squads will receive certificates from the CCAL Board of Managers and will be awarded handsome plaques by the newspapers serving the CCAL schools.

CARMEL HIGH OPENS HOOP SEASON FRIDAY NIGHT

Coaches Dick Lawitzke, Harold Lippstreu, and Clyde Klaumann Jr. put their Carmel High School basketball teams to their first test tomorrow night when the Junipero Memorial Cardinals invade the Padre pavilion for a triple-header with the Padre lights, jayvees, and varsity. None of the Carmel teams has seen action in outside competition so far this season and the initial outing will be in the form of a shakedown cruise to test out new players, take the kinks out of the veterans, and find out what the teamwork factor will be on the three squads.

Junior-varsity action is slated at 5:30 and Coach Clyde Klaumann Jr. is optimistic regarding the chances of his charges. The portly mentor has been away from the court for several years, but he was a three-year varsity performer when he cavorted in the Padre uniform. With inexperienced hands at nearly all positions, Coach Klaumann will take a look at his complete squad of David Harris, Jay Miller, Steve Johnson, Stan Michelson, Don Thielen, David Maher, Al Nishimura, Mike Brasher, Ron Berry, Bob Wells, Harold Johnson, Bob Cater, John Lefler, Dennis Spriggs, and Dan Silverie.

Coach Harold Lippstreu's lightweight aggregation is liberally sprinkled with experienced players and could kick up a storm in lightweight circles. The Little Padres will open with a lineup of Jose Fernandez, Enborg Halle, Richard Wise, Ed Brown, and Jack DeWitt. These lads all know their way around the hardwood and have had smooth practice drills for the past three weeks.

Head Coach Dick Lawitzke is blessed with a championship junior-varsity squad from last season plus varsity letterman Jim Brown. Carmel's top lightweight scorer last year, Ted Leidig, is making a solid bid for one of the guard spots and seems to have found a good running mate in slender Dan Holman. This is Dan's first try at the cage sport, but he has been a terror in the gym classes for the past two years and is probably the best outside shooter on the squad. Most likely quintet to answer the referee's whistle at 8:00 o'clock tomorrow night is Pete Morse, Jim Kelley, Jim Brown, Bob Palma, and Rick Shively. Sure to see game action are Page Van Loben Sels, Al Marshall, Bob Wakefield, Rick Baldwin, Rance Kastor, Leidig, and Holman.

The Padres should receive a severe test from the fast-breaking Cardinals who have veterans at all positions and are rated a power in the Catholic Athletic League. Following Friday night's joust with Junipero, the Padres travel to Salinas High for a triple-header with the Cowboys on Saturday night. First game slated for 5:30.

FAST BASKETBALL ACTION AT CARMEL MISSION

Over 80 boys are taking part in the intramural basketball program at the Carmel Mission and the nets are swishing each day as the Mission youngsters put on a four-game slate under the guidance of Coaches Bob Updike and Jack Giles. Everybody gets into the coaching act with the eighth-graders acting as coaches for the sixth and seventh grade teams. In addition to the intramural program, teams will be selected for competition in the Monterey Recreation Department's elementary and junior high leagues.

Manning the squads in fifth-grade play are B. Jones, M. Donwan, M. Hughes, R. Smith, J. Olow, T. Helm, P. Culver, G. Fuderer, M. Johnson, D. Lang, J. Overbay, R. Vandervort, J. Bristol, E. Glass, G. Harbort, and D. Leely. Dana Scheid, Jack Mahoney, and Jim Sparolini are student coaches for the fifth graders.

Sixth grade participants are G. Connell, R. Gerrity, D. Swanson, J. Holtiner, E. Hohn, D. Buffo, D. Daly, S. Allaire, J. Kembark, B. Phelps, T. Connell, R. Ramos, M. Warner, C. Conneau, P. Culver, T. Klepich, P. Cook, D. Erskine, B. Artellan, L. Warken, A. Hudson, and M. Rudzis. Student coaches are Eric Low, Bob White, and Carl Noto.

Seventh and eighth graders are P. Waters, B. Alt, C. Augustitus, T. Berta, G. Gilman, J. Havalka, J. Pestulka, C. Renolds, M. Dominici, T. Bristol, G. Canavaro, J. Conneau, T. Drobec, M. Hutchinson, J. Patenaude, R. Parsons, G. Bensburg, J. Chow, G. Boyle, R. Lagace, M. Martins, M. Snopkowski, D. Scheid, J. Anzini, J. Ansel, D. Jones, W. Patenaude, F. Seely, J. Sparolini, J. Everett, P. Hughes, E. Low, M. Reiley, R. White, C. Noto, D. Conneau, G. Fuderer, J. Mahoney, J. Moon, and R. Wecker.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

On Thanksgiving Eve the combined choirs of All Saints' Episcopal Church, the Church of the Wayfarer and Carmel Presbyterian Church sang a service of praise and Thanksgiving in the Presbyterian Church which I regretted having to miss because of attendance at the special opening concert of the Golden Season of the San Francisco Symphony Association. Commemorating their fiftieth year, the Symphony played a replica of the first concert directed by the American conductor Henry Hadley in 1911, and presented Wagner's Meistersingers von Nuernberg, Tschaikowsky's B minor (Pathetique) Symphony, Haydn's Theme and Variations from the Emperor Quartette, and Liszt's symphonic poem Les Preludes, the last happening to be timely in this the hundred and fiftieth year of Liszt's birth.

Even the excellent program notes, called "annotations" in 1911, were a replica though the author was stated as "unknown."

Enrique Jorda conducted with his usual flare after the Mayor of San Francisco and other officials had addressed a huge audience. A reception was held afterward in the Opera House lower lobby at which I received greetings from James Schwabacher, Ludwig Altman and others who take part in our annual Bach Festival in Carmel.

The Monterey County Symphony Guild held its Preview of the December Symphony concerts at St. John's Parish Hall Tuesday. Conductor John Gosling gave an interesting and informative talk on Mendelssohn whose No. 5 Symphony will be the second half of the program Tuesday evening and also played a record to illustrate. Nancy Ness Bowman, as program chairman, had a surprise with Elizabeth DuVal, Louise Vadetsky and Camille Oleata playing the Mendelssohn Trio in D minor for violin, cello and piano. Their excellent performance was greatly enjoyed by the large meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. David Gill, who, with other officers gave program reports.

The advent on Friday at Monterey Peninsula College of cellist Rama Jucker should be of special interest to musicians of the Peninsula for he is the first prize international winner of the Pablo Casals Competition in Mexico where he received a standing ovation. Pierre Fournier, the French cellist, has written: "his qualities are the most precious to be found nowadays, and will be appreciated by all musicians and audiences around the musical world." The recital —is the second of the college's Artists Series and is open to the public.

To the Junior High School of Pacific Grove on Saturday, comes grand opera by the San Jose Opera Association in the form of Puccini's Madame Butterfly to be sung in English by the Japanese soprano Dorothy Hiura and other experienced artists. Also two folk song programs at Sunset Auditorium on Saturday.

News from the Daniel Llords includes word of the great success of his Canadian tour with an audience amounting to 3,000 in one city, and the special concerto for puppets written by Roger Dennis being premiered with the Victoria Symphony Orchestra on December 8, 10 and 11. Also two performances December 16 with the Sacramento Orchestra. He will return later in the month to Monterey.

Mr. Norberg and Mr. Wester urge all Republican men on the Peninsula to make a special effort to be present, also join in plans to reactivate the Peninsula Republican Men's Club.

Daisy Hillyer

A former resident of Carmel, Mrs. Daisy Blanche Hillyer, who was an owner of the former Hillyer Restaurant on San Carlos Street, died Monday in Hayward following a lengthy illness.

With her late husband, Colonel Roy N. Hillyer (USA Ret.), she opened the restaurant shortly after the couple came to Carmel to make their home in 1942. He preceded her in death in 1954. She made her home in Hayward for the past seven months.

Survivors include three sons, Colonel Roy N. Hillyer, Jr., (USA Ret.) of Hayward; Sergeant Billie A. Hillyer (USMC), presently stationed in Morocco, and Captain Willard K. Hillyer (USAF) of Plattsburg, New York; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Jane Larson of Hayward, and Miss Bette Bea Hillyer of Dallas, Texas; two sisters, Mrs. Hattie Johnson of La Habra, and Mrs. Ada Day of Kansas City; and 12 grandchildren.

Services were held at 10:30 o'clock this morning in Hayward, with the Reverend Elliott Paulsen of Fairway Park Baptist Church of Hayward officiating.

Graveside rites were set for this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Mission Memorial Park, Seaside, Pall bearers were Michael Balazs, Kenneth Brown, Vincent Torras, Ted Fehring, Waldo Hicks, and James Burgess.

Patricia Elston, left, listens to Russian music with her housemother, Countess Maria Tatistscheff, right, in a dormitory for students of Russian at Mount Holyoke College in Massachusetts. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Elston, Jr., of Carmel, Patricia is one of 18 Holyoke students living in the house where rules require only Russian to be spoken in the main rooms and at meals, also at house meetings.

"Russian is the kind of language that must be spoken to have any meaning to the student. You have to learn how to hear the sounds," Patty says. She believes living in the Russian dormitory gives her a fine opportunity to become familiar with the language.

Countess Tatistscheff serves as housemother of the dormitory and as instructor in the Russian department at Mount Holyoke to further an understanding of Russian culture and develop linguistic fluency among the dormitory's residents. She was born in Russia, educated in St. Petersburg, and has taught at the University of Rome and at Colby College Summer School of Languages.

Patty is a senior in political science at Mount Holyoke. She chose to study Russian because of the value of this language to politics. Last summer Patty spent in Switzerland working for the United Nations High Commission for Refugees in Geneva. She was awarded a Seven College Conference Scholarship to attend Mount Holyoke when she graduated from Carmel High School in 1958.

Car Accident Led To Gift Of Newberry Park

existence of the school (and creation of the new city park too) is actually a direct result of an accidental occurence in Carmel sometime in the Twenties.

According to Mrs. Grigsby, Mrs. Caroline Benson Unander, a member of the Benson family of Portland, Oregon, was driving through Carmel with her young son when her car was involved in an accident and she herself was sent to the hospital with injuries.

While the boy's mother was hospitalized, he was put in the care of Mrs. Minna Steele Harper, then director of Forest Hill School.

(The school had been started sometime before this. Long-time Carmelites will recall how Mrs. Harper began the school with classes in tents on land at the school's present location, near Second Avenue and San Carlos St. It was first a summer day-school, then demand turned it into a full-time operation and a building was constructed by Carmel builder Ralph Johonnot, using his ideas of what a school for little folk should be—lots of light and miniature-scale landscaping and equipment.)

Mrs. Unander's son immediately loved the school. Even after his mother recovered, he stayed on. As a result, Mrs. Unander herself, though she returned to her Portland home, became more and more interested in Forest Hill and its problems, for it began having some problems then.

Mrs. Harper, whose interests were wide and whose curriculum included not only a study of the humanities, but summers in which she accompanied her students to Europe, fell ill, which paralyzed the operation of the school, not only scholastically, but financially.

It was then that Mrs. Unander, mindful of the help the school had been to her son, stepped in to lend money and assistance, paying for nursing care for Mrs. Harper during her illness just as Mrs. Harper had once cared for the Unander boy.

Returning the gratitude, Mrs. Harper at her death left the school and all adjoining property to Mrs. Unander, even though the latter knew nothing of education and really hadn't meant to get herself into the business of running a school at all.

That's how it was that in 1935, Mrs. Unander sent a frantic plea for help to a Portland friend, Louise Gorton Grigsby, a certified elementary and pre-school teacher who had been widowed the previous year, and was at the time heading the single women's unit of the Oregon Relief Office, which she had helped organize following passage of federal relief legislation.

"I responded to the challenge," Mrs. Grigsby recalls. "And it really was a challenge. I arrived in Carmel on January 15, 1935, during a terrible rain storm. When I took over the school, there were only five students and a 'staff' of one cook and one teacher there for her practice year. I immediately made the cook into a dietician, which pleased everyone and enhanced her standing with the students.

"Then I had some necessary remodeling done, using my own funds and time, and we made the school into what it has been ever since, a private elementary school stressing pre-school work. Mrs. Willis White became the teacher for the upper grades and I took over the humanities.

"We soon had a full quota of 20 students, a long waiting list and such an overflow in the living quarters that I purchased additional houses and property, putting eight boy students and a housemother in one of the houses.

"We developed an admirable reputation. Kindergarten methods expert, Dr. Wilbur Hollenbeck of Columbia University took to sending his student teachers to us for observation for college credit.

"One of the important ways our curriculum differed in those days from most other schools was in the way papers were 'corrected.' Actually, no correcting was done by the instructors. Instead an error would be marked for correction and the actual correction made by the student when the paper was returned.

"Instead of grade transcripts, the actual work done by the student was filed in full at the school and on graduation from Forest Hill at eighth grade level, the file itself was presented at whatever high school the student entered. Forest Hill, needless to say, produced its share of honor students."

As the years went by, it became obvious, Mrs. Grigsby says, that the forested canyon lots on either side of the school (five of them) were superfluous. When Mrs. Unander, who still owned the land, began to feel that the tax burden on the unused lots was too much, they were deeded to the city for use as a playground or park area.

Forest Hill School was closed during World War II. Mrs. Grigsby, pursuing her real love and specialty, the tutoring of pre-school youngsters, opened the popular Carmel Pre-School on Mission Street (which became Marion Leidig's present nursery school).

During the war years, prior to the building of the Officers' Club at Fort Ord, the Forest Hill building was used as a lounge and club for Ord officers. Mrs. Grigsby moved to a home she owned in Carmel Valley. The school was reopened following the war by Mrs. Anne Douglas, after Mrs. Unander's son sold the campus and buildings, which have since changed hands several times.

Mrs. Grigsby again makes her home in Carmel now, in a Casanova Street house aglow with antique metal and Bristol and Cranberry glassware, most of these accessories bearing some story out of the past of Mrs. Grigsby's own family, who are the same Gortons who sailed into Gloucester Harbor, Massachusetts, in 1630, and later established the Gorton Fisheries.

Though she balks at mention of her many activities, Mrs. Grigsby's service to her community has been little short of monumental. In Portland she had been active on the boards of eight county and city organizations including the Multnomah County Welfare and Community Chest boards, to which she was elected for six successive years by the voters of Multnomah County.

Among her other organizations are the Daughters of the American Revolution, American Red Cross, League of Women Voters, American Women's Volunteer Service, U.S.O., Carmel Girl Scouts, Monterey Peninsula Council of Church Women, Monterey Peninsula Symphony Association and Guild, Carmel Music Society, Carmel Art Association, Carmel Youth Center, and Carmel Woman's Club.

A son, Fenton William Grigsby, is a resident of San Jose, and a daughter, Mrs. F. M. Lansdown, nee Mary Agnes Grigsby, makes her home in Washington, D.C.

Brussels Is Drizzly Like Oregon Durell Decker Observes In Letter Relating Her Experiences Abroad

Editor's Note:
Last week we carried an account of Durell Decker's impressions of Iceland and Luxembourg. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker, she has completed two years of college and at present is travelling in Europe. This week she describes, in letters to her parents, her impressions of Brussels, which she reached by driving from Luxembourg with the family of a girl she met on her Atlantic flight.

"On the way to Brussels we passed through the area which raises grapes for Belgium's only wine. They are grown in glass houses and these stretch for miles in every direction," Durell begins.

"Brussels is much like San Francisco," she continues." It's a bustling city with many neon signs and much noise. There are street cars all over the city and freeways as well. One still sees, however, an occasional milk cart drawn by one or two heavy farm horses and, once in a great while, a pushcart.

"I am working and learning French in an American home in a suburb of Brussels, Waterloo, very near the battlefield by the same name. I am a 'Mother's assistant' and wash all the dishes, do ironing, vacuuming, dusting, and occupy three children, aged four, seven and eight, when they are home from school. I get one day off a week and one weekend off a month, plus $40 a month pay. This will give me time to see the surrounding country and learn the way of life here," Durell relates.

"Yesterday, my day off, I explored Brussels starting at the Bourse, a large building of Grecian-type architecture with two mammoth lions guarding the front steps. Then, on to the market place, Grand Place, filled with colorful flowers. The town hall, Hotel de Ville, and all the labor union buildings surround the cobble-stoned Grand Place and are gilded."

In the Hotel de Ville, Durell visited a photography exhibit. The pictures, about 100, were all of handicrafts and persons, sometimes with only hands pictured, busy with this work. "Next I saw the Mannken-pis," she goes on.

"Then I wandered through the streets. They have the most beautiful clothes here but the prices of the dresses are prohibitive. Jewelry here is just as expensive, as in the United States, except for amber which comes from Denmark and Germany. I haven't seen anything I want to buy yet—all too expensive!" Durell observes.

Durell halted her day-off wanderings to eat lunch, in a little place in the shadow of the Gothic St. Michael and St. Gudila Church on which construction started in the year 1220. Then she found the American Express office, walked through the Rauenstein Gallery and came to Royal Park of the Nation.

She describes the park as follows: "It is immense with elm trees, lawns, shrubbery, statues and wide walkways. There are many benches on which to sit and a pavilion where a band plays in the evening.

"On the left of the park is the Palais de la Nation or Parliament House. Straight ahead is the Palais des Academies where all academical ceremonies and international congresses are held. Beside this building is the American embassy which is just a multi-storied structure. On the right side of the park is the Palais de Roi, the King's Palace, with beautiful, sunken gardens. This building is actually a quadrangle but gives the appearance of being a segment of a circle. Two guards strut in front of the palace. The flag was flying, so King Baudoin was at home.

"To the right of the king's palace is the Place Royale and the Palais des Beaux Arts and the Musee d'Art Ancien."

Durell visited the two latter places, "There are rooms and rooms of Rubens paintings, some Rembrandts, R. van der Weydens and Brueghels," she writes. Then she went to see the Palais de Justice, "a magnificent building."

Her next letter starts, "I didn't write yesterday because I was too tired. I walked nine miles, round trip, to the Battlefield of Waterloo." She climbed 226 steps to the top of the 125-foot pyramid erected in 1823-26 on the battlefield by the allies who defeated Napoleon on this spot in 1815. Then Durell saw a panorama of the Battle of Waterloo and remarks, "The reconstruction is quite accurate and very well done."

Her further observations are: "Living in Brussels is like living in Oregon—it drizzles continually. The highest paying jobs are found here and the standard of living is quite high. I have seen no poor people yet, even the day I wandered all through Brussels, a city of a million inhabitants. Hotel rates have been high since the World's Fair when they skyrocketed. They have only come down a little since."

Durell noticed quite a few Negroes in Brussels but remarked, "This is not surprising since Belgian colonies in Africa are 83 times as large as Belgium. All the Negroes are well dressed in suits."

Next week Durell's European travels will be continued with her account of a stay in Switzerland. Later will come a trip to Austria and Germany to be followed by visits to Scandinavia, England, Scotland, France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Greece and Turkey.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

With most of us just swallowing the last bit of left-over turkey hash, it's time to talk about Christmas books. The special collection of books for Christmas reading is being arranged this week and will be placed on the top of the card catalog, as usual. Many of these books circulate for only a week, due to demand. Every year we add to our Christmas collection but often the new books arrive after the holidays have passed. This is because the books are not announced until November and by the time we get them ordered, they are shipped, and are cataloged, the magic season is over. But fortunately they are not outdated after a year's delay and are fresh and new the next year. The catalog number for Christmas is 394.268, in case you want to check the shelves before the display is put out.

Herbert Wernecke has edited a book of Christmas stories and called it Christmas Stories from Many Lands. There is more here than just a collection of stories, charming as that might be. There is here a strong feeling of the brotherhood of all mankind, and the universal appeal of a good story lovingly told.

From a publishing house in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, we frequently order at this season a publication called Christmas Ideals. This year it is all poetry and pictures, and the person seeking a good Christmas poem will find it here. We have two copies of this publication.

Two annuals from magazines for women are the Better Homes and Gardens Christmas Ideas for 1961 and McCall's, Christmas Make-It Ideas for 1961. Here are two publications printed in beautiful color and teeming with inspired ideas for gifts and decorations. There is something very appealing about a gift made by hand for some certain person. With our rising standard of living the thought of personal care and affection means more than money. Who knows, we may get back to the old fashioned idea of Christmas through just such channels as the home made Christmas gift. It's worth a try.

From somewhere in the 13th to 15th century we have the second of the Wakefield Shepherd's plays edited by Neville Braybrooke and entitled A Partridge in a Pear Tree. All the legends, the history and the folklore of the Christmas tree have been collected in a book by Daniel Foley. The book is called The Christmas Tree and there is much material here for Christmas programs and observances.

The Book of Christmas by Marguerite Ickes is also a fine collection of Christmas materials. These are all books about Christmas. Next week we might bring to your attention several books we think might do well as gifts for Christmas. But here we can only suggest. The best thing to do when you are planning to give books as gifts is to examine and really handle the books yourself and think of the persons to whom you want to give them, for only you can tell what is best for any particular person, and even then you may sometimes err. Books are personal and delightful gifts.

Dooley Foundation Auction On Sunday At Mission Ranch

Gifts donated by merchants of Monterey, Pacific Grove, Seaside and Carmel were not auctioned during the Dr. Tom Dooley Foundation Carnival Night on November 17. A special auction will be held on Sunday afternoon at the Mission Ranch from 2:00 o'clock on until all the gifts are purchased.

During the past two months special fund raising benefits have taken place and to date only $8,000 has been collected leaving a total of $4,000 needed to pay for the health unit purchased by the people of the Monterey Peninsula for the refugees of Tibet in India.

All gifts donated are new and exciting merchandise, including alligator wallets, fine antiques, and imported sweaters. There will be no admission charge.

TO SAN FRANCISCO MEETING

Planning to attend the 63rd Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association of the College of Physicians and Surgeons School of Dentistry at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco this weekend are Dr. Pauline E. Eckman and Dr. C. Gilbert Campbell.

Norberg Receives Reply To Telegram From Businessmen

Preliminary reply to a wire sent recently by a group of some thirty Monterey County businessmen to Senator John Sparkman, Small Business Committee chairman, was received this week by Gunnar Norberg from Raymond D. Watts, Small Business Committee Legal Counsel, who said, in part:

"Senator Sparkman is away from Washington at present and, in his absence, your recent telegram to him, also signed by other California small businessmen, has been referred to me for reply.

"As I am sure you are aware from your prior correspondence with Senator Sparkman, he and the Senate Small Business Committee most earnestly share your eloquently expressed belief that, 'If American free enterprise, and even great America itself, is long to survive, there must be continuing room for individual entrepreneurs by the millions, and certainly there should be such continuing room in the field of retailing'."

After stating that the Senate committee would welcome "specific proposals" from the group of businessmen who sent the wire, Watts said, "You may be sure that your wire will be brought to the Chairman's attention. In addition, I am taking the liberty of referring it to your State's Member of the Senate Small Business Committee, Senator Clair Engle."

Norberg says there is talk among those signing the wire—, a dozen of whom are Carmel business people, of the formation of a possible Main Street League, to forward the aims and interests of independent, locally owned business enterprise.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at the Pine Cone.

"Curses! foiled again... by modern electric heat!"

Shiver-Proof baseboard heaters are inconspicuous, replace baseboard.

Anti-Brrrr wall inserts are recessed out of the way, blend with any decor.

Cold-Arresting perimeter floor inserts maintain even temperature wall-to-wall, floor to ceiling.

Chill-Chasing ceiling cable radiates even warmth—ideal to install when remodeling or adding a room.

Watch Mr. Chills take it "on the lam" when electric heat appears on the scene! Cold spots are banished forever... hard-to-heat or added-on rooms stay liveable all year long. There are many electric warming ideas (see diagrams) and, of course, portable heaters. You save money, too, because there's a minimum of installation expense. Why don't you install electric heat soon... and foil Villain Chills from the start!

Symphony Tues. With Pianist And Premiere On Evening's Program

A varied program is offered by the Monterey County Symphony for its second concert of the current season on Tuesday evening, Conductor John Gosling announces.

Highlighting the program will be the appearance of piano virtuoso, Robert Mueller, performing the Beethoven Piano Concerto, No. 3. In addition, the orchestra will present Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 3, Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 5 (The Reformation), and the west coast premiere of a work by the contemporary composer George Thaddeus Jones, entitled A Poem for Peace.

A Poem for Peace is written in a more chromatic vein than many contemporary pieces, and was the Benjamin Commission for 1961. It was premiered by the North Carolina Symphony at Duke University on May 2, 1961, and met with enthusiastic response.

Dr. Jones is a professor of Music at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., and heads the theory division within the music department. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the Eastman School of Music. He is a versatile composer whose works include church anthems, symphonies, shorter orchestral works and operas. In the latter category he has written two operas, The Cage, and Break of Dawn. Both have been performed on NBC-TV in the eastern United States.

The concert, which promises to be an exceptionally interesting one, will be taped by radio station KRML and will be broadcast the following Sunday, December 11.

Symphony officials have reported a heavy demand for tickets which are now on sale at the Browse Around Shop in Carmel.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE THANKSGIVING DAY SERVICE

Expressions of gratitude for God's goodness by members of the congregation highlighted the special Thanksgiving Day service of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Monte Verde Street. The voluntary testimonies included gratitude for spiritual growth, physical healings and other blessings which have come about through the study and application of Christian Science.

A brief Lesson-Sermon entitled "Thanksgiving" emphasized the importance of living one's gratitude to God. It consisted of selections from the King James version of the Bible and from correlative passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy. The same theme of gratitude was carried out in the musical selections.

The spirit of the service was expressed in the Golden Text from Psalm 107: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! And let them sacrifice the sacrifices of thanksgiving, and declare his works with rejoicing."

DOLORES BAKERY "NEW LOOK" ALMOST COMPLETED

The "old" Dolores Bakery on Dolores Street near Seventh Avenue is in the final stages of creating a "new" look.

Although the amount of square feet remains the same, an air of spaciousness has been created through the efficient use of modern glass fixtures, indirect lighting and a rearranging of some inside partitions.

The owner, Aage Knudsen, feels that this whole improvement project with a wider display area will help to serve his customers more efficiently and comfortably.

Another Approach To Religion

Where is there a religion that honestly encourages the fullest possible use of reason?

There is beauty and truth in many of the world's religious faiths. Is there a church anywhere that does not claim to have all the answers?

I cannot accept religious beliefs just on faith. Is there a church for me?

Can persons from any religious background — Christian, Jewish, Buddhist, Moslem, etc. find one church where all are welcomed without "conversion" or "renunciation?"

If you find something of your own thought, experience, and searching in these questions, you are invited to share your ideas with us—the Unitarian Church of the Monterey Peninsula. We meet at 11:00 a.m. every Sunday at the Monterey Peninsula USO Bldg., Monterey, near El Estero Park. Literature about Unitarianism may be procured by writing P. O. Box 251, Pacific Grove, Calif.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Spiritual understanding of God's creation helps man meet everyday problems. This is a leading point of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Only Cause and Creator" to be heard at Christian Science churches Sunday.

From the Bible will be read the account of the healing by Christ Jesus of the centurion's son (Matt. 8).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include this (p. 313): "Jesus of Nazareth was the most scientific man that ever trod the globe. He plunged beneath the material surface of things, and found the spiritual cause."

The Golden Text is from Acts (15): "Known unto God are all his works from the beginning of the world."

State Board Entertained

Colton Hall, first public building constructed in California for use as a school and scene of the drafting of the first state education code, again served an educational purpose today.

At noon, State Board of Education members, on the Peninsula to hold their December meeting at Monterey Peninsula College, gathered for luncheon in the historical edifice.

Also seated around the table upstairs in Constitution Hall were the wives of the state trustees, State Department of Education members and the following local people:

Dr. Frederick R. Huber, president, Monterey Peninsula College; Eldon Covell, superintendent, Monterey Public Schools; Stuart Mitchell, superintendent, Carmel Unified School District; John Nicoll, superintendent, Pacific Grove Public Schools; Dr. Fred Ching, president, Hartnell College; Miss Gladys Stone, superintendent, Monterey county schools; State Senator Fred Farr; Thomson J. Hudson, Monterey County Board of Supervisors; Richard Matteson, vice president, MPC; Ralph Smith, dean of students, MPC; Charles Mulkey, technical-vocational dean, MPC; Linden Leavitt Jr., dean, MPC evening division; Mrs. August Johnson, president, Monterey Peninsula P-TA Council, and chairmen of Monterey Peninsula boards of education.

Luncheon arrangements were made by Mrs. D. A. Young, MPC's acting chairman of home economics, and Mrs. Jayne French, manager of the college's Student Union.

Following the luncheon, while the State Board reconvened at the college, Mrs. Murray Marshall, MPC director of student activities, and Mrs. Frederick R. Huber conducted wives of trustees on an adobe tour in Monterey and a shopping expedition in Carmel.

Late this afternoon, Mrs. Talcott Bates, Monterey member of the State Board, will host a cocktail party for the entire group at her Rancho Aguajito home.

Giarratanas To Big Game

The Stanford-University of California game last Saturday was "very wet and very exciting," according to Mrs. Joseph Giarratana. She and Mr. Giarratana, their daughter Patricia, a sophomore at Berkeley, and their son Neil, a senior at Stanford, both home for the holiday, all went to the game together, "but of course Patricia sat on the Cal side."

Neil had to cut his Carmel vacation short to go back to Stanford to decorate his fraternity house, Alpha Sigma Phi, for the festivities, but greeted the rest of his family at the house for a pre-game buffet lunch. Mrs. Giarratana was amazed at how well the decorations withstood the rain. "Such rain! But the stadium was packed, and was gay and cheerful with all the bright colored umbrellas and raincoats. We enjoyed every minute of a most exciting day. The rain actually stopped for 15 minutes during the second half!"

American Legion 49er Party

An orchestra, games, door prizes, and a drawing of three Defense Bonds ($100.00, $50.00, and $25.00) will all be part of the excitement Saturday night from 9:00 to 1:00 o'clock when Carmel American Legion Post 512 gives its annual 49er dance at Carmel Legion Hall, Dolores Street and Eighth Avenue.

Tickets are available at James Kelsey's Rinky Dink, across the street from the Carmel Fire Department, and will also be on sale at the door. Donations are $1.00 per person. Levis, skirts or semi-formal dress is the order of the evening, and everyone is invited.

Cecil LeFeuvre Honored

Against a background of brightly colored signs turned out by the Fort Ord Training Aids graphic arts shop, Cecil H. LeFeuvre, of Mission Fields, the shop's chief artist, recently received a pin and certificate on completion of 10 years' federal civilian service from Lieutenant Frederick R. Gehring, chief of the Training Branch, G3, at Fort Ord.

Morehouses Visit Grandchildren

When Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Morehouse visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Nies, at Columbia last weekend, there was a birthday cake on Thanksgiving. The Morehouses' grandson, Sandy Nies, was nine years old that day. Helping to celebrate the family party was Sandy's six-year-old sister Valerie.

Jeanne Frye Weds Dale Dawson

Jeanne Frye and Dale Dawson were married in a simple ceremony at Fremont Presbyterian Church in Sacramento on November 17. The Reverend Robert Burns McAulay officiated at the 6:00 o'clock service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Frye of Burlingame. She is at present a sophomore at the University of California at Davis. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Dawson of Carmel Valley. He is a graduate of Carmel High School, class of 1959, and is now a junior at Davis. His fraternity is Phi Delta Theta.

For the ceremony, the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a beige dress and carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Meredith Keyes of Burlingame, also a student at Davis, was the bridesmaid. Charles Dawson, brother of the bridegroom was best man. A wedding supper was held at the Mansion Inn in Sacramento. Jeanne and Dale will make their home in Davis.

Relatives who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Frye and their sons, John, James, and Joseph, of Burlingame, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dawson of Chico, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Dawson, with Karen, Darryl, and Christine Dawson, of Carmel Valley.

Mrs. Williams Arrives

Laidlaw Williams of Carmel Highlands met his wife, Abbie Lou, at San Francisco airport Wednesday and heard glowing first-hand reports of their little grandson, Nathaniel Meyers, born November 14. Seaman Davis Home On Leave

Craig S. Davis, seaman apprentice, U.S. Navy, son of Mrs. W. H. Barthold, Jr., of Rancho Aguajito, who serves aboard the destroyer USS Blue, is home on leave until Monday. He recently participated in a large-scale Navy and Marine Corps training exercise observed by Admiral George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, on November 18 off the coast of Southern California.

Seaman Davis reports that in January his ship will leave for Japan, stopping a month in Hawaii for sea exercises. The USS Blue is changing her home port from Long Beach to Yokosuka, Japan.

Sale For Settlement School

The Annual Settlement School Sale of the Monterey Peninsula Alumnae Club of Pi Beta Phi will be held Saturday from 1:00 until 6:00 o'clock in the home economics room at Carmel High School. Tea will be served during the afternoon.

Articles made by the mountaineers of Gatlinburg, Tennessee, where the school is located, will be offered for sale as Christmas gift items.

The Settlement School, the national Pi Phi philanthropy, is observing its 50th year this year. It was begun by a young Pi Phi who took over a school of 13 mountaineer children and was so impressed by their handicrafts that she determined they should be made available to the public.

As a result the school now has 13 buildings on 78 acres of land and includes dormitories, a hospital and health center and handicraft shops. The mountaineers are economically independent and their children are able to prepare for college educations.

Mrs. Patricia K. Troutman of Pacific Grove is general chairman of the sale, assisted by Mrs. Curtis W. Spillers of Carmel as tea chairman.

Officers of the local group are Mrs. Burton Doolittle, president; Miss Nina D. Craig, treasurer; Mrs. Ronald J. Oberle, first vice president; Mrs. Ora B. Winn, secretary; and Miss Lynn Hoxie, publicity.

George Giem At El Toro

Marine Private First Class George W. Giem, son of Harry A. Giem, is serving with the Third Marine Aircraft Wing at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana, California. The wing's helicopters, transports and jets provide air support for infantrymen of the First Marine Division at nearby Camp Pendleton.

A sidelight on life with the air transport services is that helicopters occasionally run out of gas. Pfc. Giem was aboard the helicopter that was forced down in Carmel Meadows last month. He was home on leave that weekend and only a passenger, not responsible for the gas tank's running dry!

American Federation Of Arts

December events at the American Federation of Arts headquarters will be many and varied. Tomorrow an all-day painting session will be held under the instruction of Warren Brandon. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week Professor T. Mikami of San Francisco returns for the last workshop of 1961. Mr. Mikami will show the use of Japanese brush technique in making holiday gifts. In these sessions beginners with no previous art experience may learn enough to continue brush painting without further instruction.

On December 8 from 6:00 to 8:00 o'clock members will attend a holiday decoration competition and sale to benefit the A.F.A. building fund. On display will be Christmas table decorations made and contributed to A.F.A. by artists invited to do so through a committee headed by Mrs. Thomas Bunn.

Further information about these events may be obtained by calling MA 4-2918, or by visiting the American Federation of Arts headquarters, on Lincoln Street between Ocean and Seventh Avenues, from 10:00 to 4:00 o'clock daily.

Marilyn Reid's Wedding

At 4:00 o'clock last Saturday afternoon in historic Carmel Mission Basilica, Marilyn Alice Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon K. Reid of Carmel, became the bride of Christopher Anthony Stokeld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stokeld of Middleborough, England. Father Roger Dieudonne performed the ceremony.

The lovely bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Bouffant bouquets of white chrysanthemums and stock at each side of the chancel echoed Marilyn's white gown with a taffeta brocade bodice and full chiffon skirt trimmed with handsewn silk loops and tiny seed pearls. Her veil fell from a tiny pillbox and had an unusual and almost medieval charm. Her flowers were white roses, carnations, and bouvardia. For "something old," Marilyn wore a gold link heirloom bracelet on which hung her own baby ring and her maternal grandmother's wedding ring and carried the silk wedding handkerchief that her great-grandmother wore at her own wedding in 1893.

Karen Dale Reid, her sister's only attendant, wore a green dress similar in design to the bride's, with a circlet of green veiling and ribbon as headdress, and carried a bouquet of green chrysanthemums and pink carnations.

Fred Stokeld of Portland, Oregon, Christopher's eldest brother, was best man. The ushers were Kyrk Reid of Yuba City, brother of the bride, and Kevin Stokeld of Chicago, another brother of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Reid was clad in a moss green Italian silk dress with matching hat, and a beige and green cymbidium orchid corsage. Susan Stokeld, Christopher's sister, flew from New York for the marriage, and took the place of the groom's mother. She wore a dress of purple velvet, a black velvet hat, and a purple and white cymbidium orchid corsage.

After the ceremony almost 100 friends joined the Reids in their South Carmel Hills home to greet the bride and groom, also toast them in champagne. The house was filled with candlelight and happiness. Just at dusk the rain stopped long enough for the festivities to overflow onto the terrace where a big patio fire was blazing. Indoors, the guests admired a lace heirloom tablecloth, loaned by a close family friend to cover the table on which stood a three-tiered cake topped with the very same ornament that had once decorated the Gordon Reids' own wedding cake.

For her going-away costume, Marilyn wore a mink-trimmed suit of muted bronze hue, black gloves and shoes and white butterfly orchids.

After a short honeymoon spent at the Mark Thomas Inn, the young couple left for San Francisco, and are making their home on Washington Street.

Marilyn, a graduate of Carmel High School, studied two years at San Jose State College and one year at San Francisco State College. Christopher was educated in England, and has a position with the Soule Steel Company in San Francisco.

Other relatives and out of town friends here for the wedding included Mrs. Kyrk Reid, Dr. Jean Hess Lash of Albuquerque, an aunt of the bride, with her daughters Alvis and Circe Lash, Mr. and Mrs. John Wells of Palos Verdes, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hopkins, and their family, from Alameda.

Elayne Lavrans' Ballet

Elayne Lavrans (Mrs. Roy Chanslor) will drive to Fresno on Sunday to see and hear the first performance of her new ballet, The Legend of Peer Gynt, to be given at 3:00 o'clock in the Fresno High School auditorium. Mrs. Chanslor composed the music and did the orchestration for this hour-long ballet, and her music will be played by the Fresno Youth Orchestra under the leadership of Paul Vermel. The choreography was arranged by Clare Lauche Porter. Directed by Mrs. Porter, the Ballet Arts Concert Dancers will do the Peer Gynt ballet dancing.

Besides Elayne's husband Roy, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Lawson, members of the delighted audience will include Miss Winifred Howe, Miss Alice Harwood, Mona and Henry Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Vial and their daughter, Susie.

Reimers Move After 22 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Niels Reimers, who lived for 22 years in stone house on the west side of San Carlos Street between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, and built by Mr. Reimers himself, have moved to another home. Owners of the Carmel Inn Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Reimers are now occupying the former Geisen house on Camino Real between Ocean and Seventh Avenues.

The Reimers report that their engineer sons, Gunnar and Niels Jr., have positions with Philco (part of the Ford Company) in Redwood City, and are working on satellite projects. Both boys are graduates of the Carmel school system.

Dollars For Scholars

The Monterey Peninsula Branch of the American Association of University Women is giving its annual Dollars for Scholars rummage, plant, and cake sale on Saturday from 9:00 to 3:00 o'clock at Exhibition Hall, Monterey County Fairgrounds.

A Christmas table will be an attraction; and plants, books, clothing, jewelry, hats, furniture, housewares and toys will also be on sale. Refreshments may be purchased, too. After 1:00 o'clock items will be half priced.

This sale, formerly held in February, provides the funds that the local chapter of the A.A.U.W. gives to assist exceptional women students to further their education; and it helps to bring women from abroad to the United States for specialized training.

In addition, the Operation Update series of four talks at Monterey Peninsula College last April was financed by Dollars for Scholars proceeds.

Now is the time for Carmel taxpayers to begin thinking about what Carmel Unified School District's first new junior high school should be named.

Ground work began this week on the school, which has been called a number of things during its planning stages including "artichoke junior high school," a designation used (in jest, we hope) by Superintendent Stuart Mitchell at a school board meeting. (The new campus lies at the mouth of Carmel Valley, the area formerly green with artichoke plants most of the year.)

Historically, Carmel schools have been named for their geographical locations — Sunset for the school on the west side of town, River for the school near Carmel River lagoon, and so on. Past school board policy has been against naming schools after individuals, either living or deceased.

Carmel High School was named Carmel High School, according to Mitchell, for the obvious reason that there was only one high school and the name covered the situation ideally.

By the same token, there will be only one junior high school and the possibility arises that a good name might be Carmel Junior High School.

The school board is open to suggestions.

And speaking of schools, here is a conversation between two teachers overheard by The Pine Cone recently in the office of River School, where a new lounge for teachers has just been completed, but the old lounge is not quite out of service.

"Where is Mrs. Doe?"

"She's in the old teachers' room."

"Please let's refer to it as 'the teachers' old room'."

Monterey attorney Peter Ferrante will head the Carmel Bach Festival corporation for the coming year, succeeding Fritz Wurzmann to the post. Both are longtime members of the festival board of directors.

Next summer's festival, the 25th, set for July 20-29, will again be directed by Conductor Sandor Salgo of Palo Alto, who plans to include Bach's St. Matthew Passion in the nine-day program.

Board members serving with Mr. Ferrante, most of them continuing their terms from prior years, include: Mrs. Alexander Albert, first vice president; Ted Durein, second vice president; Mrs. Leonard Klene, third vice president; the Reverend H. M. M. Nicholas, secretary; Mrs. Walter Jennings, treasurer; Mrs. Archer M. Allan, Mrs. Nancy Ness Bowman, Mrs. Betty Chappell, Arthur Dahl, Mrs. Walter deMartini, Dr. Frederick Huber, Arthur Lehmann, Charles O'Gara, Charles Thomas, Dr. Mast Wolfson, Mrs. Walter Lehmann, and Professor John E. Brock. Michel MacKay is executive secretary.

John Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Frank of Valley Way and Carpenter Streets, Carmel, is one of the enthusiastic youngsters who have been attending training classes in preparation for the forthcoming Puppy Match, sponsored by the Del Monte Kennel Club, to be held Sunday at the Monterey County Fairgrounds. Entries start at 9:00 o'clock and the judging begins at noon. The Puppy Match is open to all owners of pure-bred dogs between the ages of two and six months.

'Black Veil' Rites

A Carmelite nun. Sister Marie Cecile, made a final profession and took her final solemn vows in rites known as the "black veiling" ceremony last Saturday morning in the chapel of the Carmelite Monastrey near Point Lobos. She has been a member of the order for the past four and a half years.

During the day of the ceremony, and for two days following, Sister Marie received her friends in the speak-room of the monastery, marking one of the three occasions in her monastic life when she is allowed to do so. She will not see people again (other than others within the cloistered order) for 25 years, at the celebration of her silver jubilee.

Carmel Students Attend Alcoholism Conference Today

Eleven Carmel High School students, most of them seniors, were participating today in the Youth Conference on Alcoholism at Asilomar. The conference is a feature of Alcoholism Information Week, which began last weekend and will run through Sunday on the Monterey Peninsula.

Sponsor of the week has been the Monterey Peninsula Alcoholism Council, an affiliate of the National Council on Alcoholism, devoted to education, treatment and research in the field of alcoholism as a disease. The local group is headed by Dr. Edwin Tucker, chairman.

Heading the Carmel youth delegation and also serving on the youth board which helped plan today's program, was Elaine Kachovas.

Other Carmel High representatives to the conference include Linda Predmore, Peter Nelson, Page Van Loben Sels, JoAnne Oliver, Sheri Adams, Chris Rose, Jeff McKenna, Brenda Bradley, Ginger Laky, and John Hackbarth.

The group is among a large panel of youngsters invited to participate from all high schools and junior colleges in Monterey County.

Among other items on the week's agenda still to come is an open house for the public at Beacon House, recovery center for victims of alcoholism, at 468 Pine Avenue, Pacific Grove.

Adela Rogers St. Johns, Los Angeles writer and newspaperwoman, spoke last night to conference goers at a special meeting at the Mark Thomas Inn.

Carmel churches were also expected to join other churches in the county in planning for observance of Alcoholism Concern Sunday this weekend, when pastors will seek to spread understanding of alcoholism and of those afflicted with alcoholism currently seeking help through the churches.

The Reverend Victor Davis, minister of religious education, Church of the Wayfarer, has been active in planning the youth conference. Mr. Davis is also a board member of the Peninsula Council.

State Board of Education Meets Through Tomorrow On Monterey Peninsula

The State Board of Education is holding its regular monthly meeting at Monterey Peninsula College today and tomorrow.

It is the third of a series of state board meetings on junior college campuses this fall. Bakersfield College hosted the October session and El Camino College was host for the November meeting. The plan is to highlight the new status of junior colleges in California's system of higher education, according to Dr. Frederick R. Huber, MPC president.

The board will discuss the teaching of foreign languages in elementary schools and state support for education and public schools.

Also on the agenda, which is expected to keep the board at work into Friday afternoon, are: accreditation of California high schools, a resolution on sale of used state text books, a new junior college teaching credential and permits for sale of correspondence courses.

The board will also discuss a system of accounting for junior college costs, in accordance with House Resolution 77, passed in the 1962 legislature, and will take up re-districting problems in Orange and Solano counties.

Plans for joint meetings with the Accreditation Committee on Teacher Education of the State Department of Education, and with the State Department's Curriculum Commission, will also be made.

The sessions opened in the MPC library lecture hall this morning when Dr. Huber welcomed the board to the college.

Edmund L. Lewis, representative of the California Disaster Office, made a presentation to the board at 11:00 o'clock.

Board members here expected to attend the meeting include: Mrs. Talcott Bates, Monterey; Thomas Braden, Oceanside; Nathaniel Colley, Sacramento; Raymond Daba, Atherton; Donald M. Hart, Bakersfield; Bishop Gerald Kennedy, Los Angeles; Dr. Mabel E. Kinney, Los Angeles; Mrs. Seymour Mathiesen, Fresno; and William A. Norris, Los Angeles. Benjamin Scott of San Pedro is in India.

Roy Simpson, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and some 15 members of his administrative staff are also here to attend the two-day meeting.

Property Owners Near All Saints' Protest Parochial School Permit

a petition to effect correction of comissioners' action as a board of adjustments when this action was precipitated by a city council decision.

Other signers of the petition, in addition to planning commissioners and four of seven committee members, were: Libbie Harting, Lucretia B. Schlueter, Herbert M. Tolfree, Sarah Ames Hull, Donald Ray Hull, Amy C. Brigham, Carrie B. Heiliger, Antoinette, Charles E. and Edward R. Hamm, Edward R. Hanson, Anne Hecatou, Erma R. Phillips, James Phillips, Juanita M. Martin, Millard B. Martin, Roxana H. Blanks, Karen J. Hicks, Robert Waldo Hicks and Helen E. Schweninger.

Mr. Harting stated Monday morning that the petition protesting a use permit for the private parochial school was the result of "the greatest railroading ever perpetrated" by a Carmel city council.

He was referring to the fact that the council in October by a 2-1 vote overruled a 6-1 decision of the planning commission that denied a use permit for the private parochial school.

The planning commission, originally, after study and public hearing, decided a school on All Saints' Parish property would adversely affect the character of the neighborhood, also property values in the area, and denied the issuance of a use permit for the school on August 16.

All Saints' Parish appealed this decision to the city council.

At the council hearing on the church appeal, Mr. Harting's group presented a petition against allowing the parochial school on parish property, signed by 125 property owners. They also presented for council consideration a map showing the location of 100 lots surrounding the church property and owned by the above signers. These were not properly considered by the council, they protest.

Mayor Frank Putnam, a member of All Saints' vestry, and Councilman Eben Whittlesey, a member of the board of directors of Bishop Kip School, abstained from any consideration of the church appeal. When the matter came to a vote, Councilmen John Chitwood and Gunnar Norberg voted to allow the school on All Saints' property in the residence zone. Councilman Francis Whitaker voted No.

Following this vote, the council remanded the matter to the planning commission, sitting as a board of adjustments.

The only action possible for the board of adjustments after the council overruled their original denial and remanded the matter to them, was to issue the use permit for the parochial school. This they did on November 15.

Attached to the permit were conditions stipulated by the council. These were that the school could only operate on All Saints' property until June 1963; must never have more than 50 pupils divided in two classes the first year, three the next; only five-day sessions were to be permitted; there should be no summer school. To these, the board of adjustments added a further condition that the school's alarm and program signals be confined primarily to the inner court of All Saints' compound.

Public notice of the issuance of the permit was published last Thursday in this paper. All Saints' Parish then had to wait five days before obtaining the use permit at the city hall. During this time an appeal protesting the permit was legal. Mr. Harting filed the appeal on Monday, next to last day for such action.

The appeal is based on "inadequate consideration." Matters the 30 signers claim were not fully regarded by the board of adjustments acting on council orders are the dangerous traffic and parking problems that will be created by a school; these two problems will lessen the residential desirability of the neighborhood; inadequate play and recreational facilities for the pupils will mean additional noise and confusion in the neighborhood; the desires and legitimate concerns of electors in the neighborhood and the use and enjoyment of their property will be curtailed by the school.

Following the board of adjustments granting of the use permit on November 15, the Reverend Peter Farmer, headmaster, stated that plans were to open Bishop Kip School in Carmel on Monday. The school is operating at present in quarters loaned by York School, an Episcopal private school for boys in Pacific Grove.

Pending city council action on the appeal filed by Mr. Harting, the school will be prevented from opening in Carmel next week.

Mr. Harting stated on Monday that his group hopes for a peaceful settlement of their problem. They have "no quarrel" with All Saints' Church; or establishment of a parochial day school providing this is done in another location than the vicinity of their homes.

"We are protecting the residence zone," he emphasized, and indicated that if after further consideration of the use permit, the council still approves the school at All Saints', his group is prepared to circulate a city-wide petition for the matter to be put to the voters of Carmel on the ballot at a regular municipal election or at a special election.

His group hopes though, he said, that the council will reconsider allowing the school in the residence zone, repeal the use permit and rescind actions already taken.

TWO CARMEL ACCIDENTS

Two single-car accidents occurred in the Carmel area this week. Nancy L. Baxter, 17, escaped injury yesterday at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon when she lost control of her car at Highway One and Atherton Drive. Southbound on the highway, she attempted a right turn onto Atherton when the vehicle ran off the road, ripping out ten feet of guard rail, according to the California Highway Patrol.

In a similar accident Tuesday, a car driven by Mrs. Mabel S. Smith of Salinas went out of control on Carmel Valley Road near Rancho Fiesta, tumbling over a 75-foot embankment. Mrs. Smith was hospitalized with major injuries.

Two Women Scared Tuesday Evening

Richfield service station at the corner of San Carlos and Seventh. A man jumped from the rear seat of her car, scaring her, as she entered the gas station. This was later corroborated by two men at the station, Richard Moore and Anthony Ferrante.

Police went to the post office parking lot and found a man who answered to the description given by Miss O'Neill and Mrs. Grigsby, about to leave the lot in a car.

They took him to the police station where he was identified as Edward John Czerkanski. Both Miss O'Neill and Mrs. Grigsby, also Moore and Ferrante, alleged he was the person who had caused the two complaints.

Yesterday, Czerkanski, according to the Carmel Police Department report, admitted to the disturbances saying he had a few drinks and didn't know what he was doing the night before.

Police booked him on the peace disturbance charge and he was lodged overnight in Monterey jail.

Stop Hitchhiking At Carmel High

dangerous for both motorist and students.

The committee also requests all parents of Carmel High School students to ask their children to abandon the practice of requesting rides at this point.

Mrs. Norman Vaa is chairman of the P-TA safety committee. P-TA representatives from each of the six schools are on the committee, too. Membership also includes Clayton Neill Jr., member of the district's board of trustees, and William Wakefield, recreation director for the district, who is a school board appointee to the safety committee.

Ground Broken Today For New Jr. High

tain View, $959,000; Harold Geyer, of Monterey, $943,800; F. V. Hampshire, of Salinas, $917,330; L and N Construction, of Fresno, $918,500; Pacific Coast Builders, of San Francisco, $995,599; Singleton Corporation, of Redding, $967,000; and Leon Wheatley, of Palo Alto, $915,000.

Added to the base bid were alternates of $3,670 for library carpeting, and of $5,830 for floor tile in all other buildings. Deducted was the sum of $14,028, the cost of a new type of classroom lighting which failed to win aproval of the State Division of School Planning.

Designed by the Carmel architectural firm of Elston and Cranston, in conjunction with Ernest Kump of Palo Alto, the new school will accommodate some 600 pupils and occupy some 83,000 square feet of floor space. Entrance to the campus will be directly across the valley road from the Rancho Rio Vista residential development.

Though construction of all buildings is scheduled to begin more or less simultaneously, according to Carl Daniels of the construction firm, work on the gym and other larger buildings will take precedence.

Taking into consideration the addition of the two alternates and the deletion of one, and the additional amount for the early completion date, the basic construction costs for the school now stand at $897,072. This figure, however, does not include architects' fees and fees for certain other studies and services which will be needed as work progresses.
